

RIVER AT HIGHEST STAGE SINCE 1916

Water at Rockford Rises About an Inch an Hour and Touches the Fifteen-foot Mark.

MANY ROADS ARE IMPASSABLE

Muscatauck River is Nearly a Mile Wide in Some Places—Few Small Streams Receding.

Flood conditions in Jackson county which resulted from the heavy rains during the last few days are the most serious since the spring of 1916. Some streams are reported to be higher than in the 1913 flood, but the larger creeks and rivers are not as high as they were, seven years ago. White River at Rockford reached a stage of fifteen feet above the low water mark. The river rose from two to four inches an hour during the night but early this morning was rising only an inch an hour. This rise continued during the day. However, it was expected that the crest of the flood would be reached during the afternoon.

The river at Rockford is the highest it has been since 1916 when a sixteen-foot stage was recorded. During the March 1913 flood the water stage was above eighteen feet. The rise late Tuesday and Tuesday night resulted in a swift current and much of the land that is flooded will be badly washed.

Overland traffic to the city is stopped in every direction because of water over the roads. The concrete road to Cortland is flooded this side of Bell's Ford bridge and the New Ford road is also impassable, as the water is many feet deep just west of the bridge. An automobilist attempted to ford the current on the concrete road last night, but the motor was stalled by water. The driver left the machine standing in the road and this morning the water almost touched the top of the body doors.

The road between Seymour and Cortland is impassable as the water is over the highway north of the wagon bridge in several places. The Muscatauck is out of its banks, covering roads south of the city. Mutton Creek and Storm's Creek, east of the city, are many times their normal size and cover roadways in that vicinity.

A few of the smaller creeks were reported to be receding although the Muscatauck and White Rivers continued to rise steadily during the forenoon. The Muscatauck is nearly a mile wide in some places south of the city and hundreds of acres of land are inundated. Some of the soil will be washed, it is feared, so that it will be damaged or entirely ruined for farming purposes this spring.

The heavy rain storm Tuesday night was quite general in this vicinity and it is thought that it will increase the volume of water that is pouring into the rivers and larger streams from the creeks. People acquainted with river conditions predicted that the flood crest would be reached at Rockford during the day, but feared that a second rise might result from the downpour Tuesday night.

FIFTEEN PIECES OF SHRAPNEL REMOVED

Roy Beldon is Relieved of Injuries Received in Argonne Forest Battle.

SUFFERED CONSIDERABLY

Operation Performed by Dr. E. B. Chenoweth Tuesday—Ex-soldier Given Immediate Relief.

Roy Beldon, a local boy who was in the thickest of the fighting in France in 1918, yesterday underwent an operation to have some shrapnel, received in battle, removed from his jaw. The operation was performed by Dr. E. B. Chenoweth who succeeded in removing fifteen pieces of shrapnel from the jaw and the ex-soldier man was given immediate relief.

Mr. Beldon sustained the injury while in battle in the Argonne Forest. He suffered more or less afterwards from the injury but it was not considered serious.

Lately the jaw had been giving him considerable trouble and he went to the physician for treatment. Dr. Chenoweth was a captain in the army and served several months in medical corps of the United States army in France where he had occasion to deal with similar cases. He stated today that Mr. Beldon's case was one of the worst, considering the number of pieces removed from his face, that he had encountered.

NOTICE OF SPECIAL ELECTION IS GIVEN

Voters Will Be Given Opportunity to Decide Sewerage Project by Ballot on Friday.

TWO VOTING PLACES IN CITY

Council Expected to Receive Suggestion of Chamber of Commerce to Postpone Election.

Harry Findley, city clerk, following the order of the city council today gave official notice that a special election will be held on Friday to give the voters of Seymour an opportunity to decide whether or not they want to expend from $200,000 to $300,000 for the construction of a new sewerage system. The notice stated that there will be two voting places.

Voters living on the north side of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad will vote at Mrs. Blue's residence on Indianapolis avenue, two houses south of the Steele house. Voters on the south side of the railroad will vote at the Frank Thoele store room, corner of Chestnut and Bruce streets. The polls will be open from 6 a. m. until 8 p. m. The election committee of the council is arranging for the organization of the boards.

The council will meet in regular session tonight and it is expected that the matter of the special election will be considered from many angles. At the last meeting of the Chamber of Commerce a resolution was adopted asking that the council postpone the election until a future date. The resolution has not yet been presented to the council but will be considered tonight. It is understood that four of the councilmen favor the holding of the election.

Those opposed to the election favor the adoption of the report of a special committee which recommended that a survey first be made of the present sewerage system and that plans and specifications be prepared for the proposed new system. It is argued that the voters do not know what the improvement will cost, except for estimates which have been made without definite facts or figures. It is believed by those who have given the matter close attention that the proposed improvement will be favored by a majority of the voters. They point out that a negative vote in the special election will not signify that the majority of people are opposed to the construction of a sewerage system but it will mean that they want more information about the proposed improvement.

CASE AGAINST ADVISORY BOARD IS DISMISSED

Another Chapter in Lexington Township, Scott County, Difficulties Ended.

The case which was filed by Mike Storen, trustee of Lexington township, Scott county, against Perry Smith, members of the advisory board, in an effort to have them ousted from office, was dismissed by Judge Carney Tuesday. John M. Lewis, of this city, was attorney for the defendants. The difficulty between the trustee and the two members of his advisory board has been of long standing and has resulted in considerable litigation. Storen accused the two members of the board with malfeasance of office and on motion of Mr. Lewis the accusation was quashed. Storen, it is said, intends to file another case against them.

BRYAN APPARENTLY IN LEAD

Many Women Supported McAdoo And Hoover For the Presidency.

Lincoln, Neb., April 21—Senator Hiram Johnson continued to lead today in the Nebraska presidential primaries as returns slowly filtered in from yesterday election. Returns from 432 of the state's 1,849 precincts were Johnson, 18,618; Wood, 12,862; Pershing, 6,909.

Johnson's supporters here claimed their candidate's nomination by 20,000.

William Jennings Bryan on returns available today appeared certain of a place among Democratic delegates at large to the national convention. He ran third in 354 precincts, two anti-Bryan men leading him by only 214 votes.

Hitchcock easily won in the Democratic preference. His only opponent was Ross who filed as both Democrat and Republican.

John M. Moorehead had a large lead today for the Democratic nomination for governorship and returns indicated Governor McKelvie leading for the Republican nomination.

Voting weather was fair except in far western counties where blizzards interfered.

The vote of women was heavy. It was the first time women had voted here. Many women wrote in names of William G. McAdoo and Herbert Hoover for the Democratic presidential nomination.

YARDMEN REFUSE VOTE ON STRIKE

Four Thousand Strikers Leave Meeting in Chicago Because Grunau Did Not Appear.

ACTION COMES AS SURPRISE

District Attorney Clyne Announces That Prosecutions Under Lever Act Will be Pressed.

Chicago, April 21—Striking railway switchmen refused to vote an end their outlaw strike today. Called to a mass meeting by three leaders 4,000 men left the hall five minutes after the meeting had been called to order. Failure of John Grunau, chief of the Chicago Yardmen's Association, to appear caused the bolt. About 600 men remained in the hall. The bolters went to the streets to jeer those who desired to return to work.

R. S. Murphy and S. Jones who called the meeting anticipated opposition but were not prepared for a wholesale "walkout" at the meeting. John Grunau who had been jailed was expected to be released, long enough to advise his followers to return to work.

District Attorney Clyne announced that regardless of the switchmen's action prosecution of strike leaders arrested on charges of violating the Lever act would proceed.

The meeting was thrown into an uproar followed by the walkout when Jones apologized for non appearance of Grunau and said he was willing to fight the switchmen's battle so long as he did not have to fight the government.

A few scattered cries of "We want Grunau" grew to a roar as a few minutes later the hall was empty. Railway men and a few strikers predicted most of the men would return to work pending wage adjustment.

100 PERSONS KILLED IN TORNADO IN THE SOUTH

Two entire villages in Mississippi were reported to have been demolished. Other places were badly damaged.

Two separate storms, one occurring two hours after the other, swept through the central and western portions of Mississippi, according to reports. Both storms moved northeast into Alabama. The tail end of the storm struck southern Tennessee but with lessened force.

BAKER DECIDES TO MOVE SHOPS TO INDIANA AT ONCE

Request to Defer Abandonment of Rochester, N. Y. Arsenal is Refused.

Washington, April 21—Secretary Baker has refused to defer abandonment of the Rochester (N. Y.) arsenal and the transfer of the leather and cloth shops from Rock Island, Ill., to Jeffersonville, Ind., until the House military committee could inquire into the changes. Mr. Baker said the funds for carrying out the project would be available only during this fiscal year and that the action "was purely administrative and not a matter of legislation."

Under the war department plan the machine gun machinery of the Rochester arsenal will be moved to the permanent arsenal at Rock Island. The request to defer the transfers was made by Representative Hull, Republican, Iowa, when the secretary appeared before the committee.

"BEST IN THE WORLD" SAYS FT. WAYNE MAN

Fred Adams Was All Run Down, But Is Brimful of New Life and Energy Now.

"This is certainly the best medicine in the world," said Fred Adams, as he purchased his fourth bottle of Tanlac the other day, "and I want my statement published in all the papers so that everybody may know what it has done for me."

Mr. Adams lives on R. F. D.-9, Ft. Wayne. He is employed by the General Electric Company as machinist and is highly respected by all who know him.

"Yes, sir," added Mr. Adams, "I count myself lucky that I got Tanlac. Why, I have already gained ten pounds in weight and have just finished my third bottle. Not only that but I have gotten rid of a case of stomach trouble that kept me miserable for two years as well as all the after effects of a case of 'flu' that came near putting me out of business."

"When the 'flu' epidemic struck us about a year ago I was in such an awful run-down condition on account of indigestion that I was an easy victim. I had a spell that used me pretty rough and when I did get up my stomach, which had bothered me for two years, troubled me worse than ever. Besides that my head ached continually and I was so nervous I thought I would go distracted. I tried to work, but couldn't make it to save my life. I was bilious most of the time. My kidneys were out of order and my color was bad. I also had the backache and felt tired and worn out all the time."

"Since I began taking Tanlac I have gained ten pounds and feel like an entirely different man. I can eat just anything set before me and I never feel a pain or a sign of indigestion any more. Neither my kidneys nor liver bother me and my headaches and backaches are things of the past. I have also gotten rid of that tired feeling and am just brimful of new life and energy. Tanlac certainly does the work—at least it has in my case, and now when I hear anyone complain of feeling run-down and bad I always tell them about Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in Seymour by Maxon Pharmacy, and in Crothersville by C. W. Taulman, and in Brownstown by Chas. Brock.

GOLD MINE DEPARTMENT STORE

Address of W. E. Stone

So when we commence to talk about the co-operative banking, it is the simplest thing in the world, and there is no reason why we cannot have it in our own hands, and use it for our people. The labor organizations alone have over forty-two millions of dollars on deposit in the different banks of this country; I mean as the funds of their organizations, not the funds of individuals. And it is being used for what? It is being used by that little group to fight the very organizations who have deposited the money. And the same is true clear down the line of you farmers and you co-operators.

I know something of the co-operative stores. I keep in touch with a number of them. Some plan must be worked out whereby we can help these individual units, and have some system, because in the individual store that we put in, the capital proposition is limited, and the first thing the retailers do is to combine together and undersell him for two or three weeks until he runs out of money, and if they can't squeeze him out that way, they cut out his supply coming from the wholesale house and they freeze him out that way. There are men in this room who have had that experience. I will give you one illustration. In a Western town where we have had a co-operative store for three years, and the manager is in the room now, he has been selling flour at thirty cents a sack less than anybody else in the city.

First he was notified by the retail merchants that he would have to sell at a standard price. He declined. Next a representative of the milling trust came all the way to this Western city to notify him that when his present supply of flour was used up he couldn't have any more unless he raised the price. If they don't get you one way they get you another way. That is one of the conditions confronting us today, and some plan must be worked out for direct buying and selling. In talking, the other night, a gentleman rose up and said, "I would like to ask you a question, Mr. Stone. What is going to become of us middle-men?" I looked at him and said, "I am afraid some of you will have to go to work, if our plan materializes." (Laughter and applause.)

And I think that is what is going to happen. I am not going to talk figures to you. I want to give you a couple of illustrations to show you the problem we are all up against. For example, in Cleveland apples have been selling for fifteen cents a pound, or $7.50 per bushel. Now, we have a distributing store from the Idaho Fruit Growers Association, selling its hand-picked apples for $3.25 a bushel. One of the chairmen of our organization has a vineyard in Southern California. He raises these pink grapes. He sold his entire crop the first week in December, at thirty-two dollars a ton or one and three-fifths cents a pound. Refrigerator freight to any Atlantic seaboard is one and one-half cents a pound. If you can buy any of those grapes in any eastern market at less than forty cents a pound, I will apologize for the whole crowd.

One of our railroad men is a so-called farmer in Southwest Texas. He thought he was going to get rich growing Spanish Bermuda onions. Whenever you think that Bermuda onions come from Bermuda, you are mistaken, because they grow in Southwest Texas, many of them. After growing Bermuda onions for four years, he was bankrupt; not because he couldn't grow onions, but because he couldn't sell them after he had them grown. His crop of 1917, with that of thousands of acres of his former friends, rotted in the fields because they couldn't find anybody that would give them an offer on it, although Spanish Bermuda onions were selling in our Northern states at eighteen cents a pound at the same time. Then a Government man came along and said, "We need lots of navy beans to feed our army. I wish everyone of you would raise beans." The climate is well adapted to grow beans, so they started in to grow beans. And they raised the finest beans in the world, and they still have their 1918 and 1919 crop on hand. Why? Because by the time they had plowed the ground and planted and cultivated and harvested and threshed it and put it in warehouses, the beans had actually cost them four cents a pound to grow them. The best offer they have had up to date is one and one-half cents a pound. The freight to any Atlantic seaboard even as far away as Boston, from Southwest Texas, is one and one-eighth cents a pound. Beans were selling in Boston the last time I was there, at eighteen cents a pound. Those are just a few examples. I could give you thousands of the same kind. That is what we are up against and that is what the working man and the city dweller has to pay.

We are going to work out a plan. You will hear about that later on. When we get Government ownership of railroads—and it is eventually coming. (Applause.) It is not with this Congress. You couldn't get five votes down there in the Senate today, but before we get the Plumb Plan, we will have to leave some of those senators and congressmen at home and send some of our friends in their places. (Much applause.)

I don't propose, if I have anything to say about this co-operative movement, that it is going to be the tail to anybody's political kite. (Applause.) I do propose that we are going to vote for the man that represents our interest, regardless of his party, and when he does not deliver the goods, we are going to turn him down, regardless of his party. (Applause.)

It might interest you people who think you have your representatives in Washington, to give you a short analysis of our present Congress. There are 21 union labor men carrying cards. Well, there are 27, but there are really 21 that will stand hitched. There are three farmers, out of the 26 per cent of the population. And there are 364 lawyers. Is it any wonder they don't agree on anything? (Much applause.) Do you think it would be humanly possible for 364 lawyers to agree on any one subject? It is not. (Applause.) And yet 70 per cent of the votes cast in the United States today are cast by men and women who labor for their daily bread either by brain or muscle or both. And that is your representation in Congress. (Applause.)

We are going to have women's suffrage. We have five or six States which are yet necessary to ratification. It is coming. It should have come long ago. (Applause.) They say the woman should not have the vote. I am not at all alarmed about the woman having the vote. I am sure she could not make a bigger mess of it than you men have made. (Applause.)

Here is another thing that might interest you. The American woman cannot vote yet. I had to live here 21 years (when my people have been here 200 years), before I could vote. The foreigner who comes to our shores and to whom liberty in many cases merely spells license, by taking out his first paper and making a declaration that he is going to become an American citizen, he can vote in 13 States. And the American woman knows more in five minutes about the needs of this country than he will ever know, coming here at a late time in life, when he knows nothing about our American customs or principles or what the American flag stands for. We talk about Americanization and we call ourselves the Melting Pot of the world. We allow these people to come here and settle down in any part of the country and they have their newspaper and their language and their religion, perhaps, the minister or the priest, and their newspapers in their language, simply a bit of their old home transplanted, and we take no interest in them, and neither know nor care how they get along, and they are simply exploited by the Americans under the padrone system. And we don't try to explain to them what it means. Their places to start is right in the public schools, when the little child gets there. They should be taught what the Stars and Stripes stand for and what the Constitution of the United States means and what the rights of an American citizen are and what this country is trying to do for them. We don't do that. Why? To me, you know, the man or woman that takes the child of tender years and shapes its mind and forms its character, ought to be the highest paid person in the community. (Applause.)

Instead of that, you pay them starvation wages and the result is that many of our best teachers are compelled to leave the profession they have spent the best part of their lives in fitting themselves for, and take up other work in order to live. It is all right to pay about $20,000 a year for a left-handed baseball twirler, but it is absolutely wrong when you start to economize on your teachers who handle your children and your ministers who look after your morals. And that is what you are doing in America today. That is another question for you to think about. Pay your teachers a living wage. Pay them a wage so that you can get the best; and the best is none too good. Then you can train these children up into American citizens.

We are deporting a lot of Reds at the present time. Whether or not they should be deported I am not going to discuss. We are making the most fatal kind of a mistake, in my opinion, when they deport a man and leave his family, his children and his wife, here in America. The child will grow up the reddest of the Reds and

PERFECT CONFIDENCE

Seymour People Have Good Reason For Complete Reliance.

Do you know how—
To find relief from backache;
To correct distressing urinary ills;
To assist weak kidneys?
Your neighbors know the way—
Have used Doan's Kidney Pills;
Have proved their worth in many tests. Ask your neighbor!

Here's Seymour testimony.
George Kramer, 206 S. Broadway, says: "I had considerable trouble with my kidneys. At times I had soreness in the small of my back and loins. My kidneys acted too freely. I read about Doan's Kidney Pills, and used them as directed. They relieved the backaches and regulated my kidneys."

The above statement was given Dec. 14, 1915, and on July 22, 1919 Mr. Kramer said: "I have the utmost faith in Doan's Kidney Pills. I take them occasionally to keep my kidneys in fine shape and I am never without them in the house."

The meeting here has been well attended and the delegates are much pleased with the program. The ladies of the church served a dinner at noon today.

16 Million 438 Thousand Miles a Day

THIS is the potential mileage supplied daily to the people of the Middle West by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

In arriving at these figures we have taken ten miles per gallon as the performance of the average car, and multiplied it by 600,000,000, the number of gallons of gasoline marketed by this Company last year, and divided the result by 365.

The task confronting the Company is a dual one.

Not only must it maintain this flow of gasoline at all times, but it must so plan its activities as to keep pace with constantly increasing demand for fuel, whether this demand be normal or abnormal.

That, in a word, is the job of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) and the Company is as big as its job.

Every resource, every ounce of energy, and all its equipment are at work to keep pace with the insistent demands for gasoline and other products.

The management recognizes its responsibility to the motorists of the 11 states the Company serves, and every effort is being made to meet this responsibility.

his father will always be a martyr to him, and it is a fatal mistake. If they are going to deport them at all, they should deport the whole family. (Applause.)

We are facing a number of serious things. We are going to have an anti-strike law. And I see, by the way, that a so-called farmers' organization this morning has endorsed it. It might interest some of you who are keeping in touch with it, to know about some of those farmers' organizations. Probably some of those speakers who are more familiar about it than I am, will explain it a little more in detail, and tell you the number of real farmers they represent. The truth of the matter is the Wall Street men own that bunch of farmers. (Applause.) There is no question about it. What does the anti-strike law mean? It is the most drastic law that ever was put upon the books of any country in the world, but, as I say, I believe it is going through. For example, take two of our locomotive engineers who are tired of living in this northern climate; they are getting pretty old and they feel these keen winters; if they say among themselves, "Well, we are going to quit and go down south where the climate is not so severe." If two of them leave the service on the same day, they are guilty of conspiracy, under the so-called Cummins bill. And they are subject to a fine of $500 or six months imprisonment, or both. And if they come to me, in my office, as Locomotive Engineers and tell me the executive of the Brotherhood of that they are going to leave and ask me if I could get them some position in the South, and if I would say, "I can get you a good place in Florida or Alabama or Texas," I am also guilty of a conspiracy and I am subject to a fine of $500 or six months imprisonment or both. If, for any cause—for any good cause, some of them go on strike—for example, if the men go on strike next week, as is now contemplated, and you happen to be a next door neighbor to one of the strikers, and you know it has been hard to keep body and soul together on the wages they have been getting; if you should give one of the children a crust of bread because it was hungry, if it was the child of one of the strikers, you are guilty of conspiracy and you are subject to a fine of $500 or imprisonment for six months, or both. And that is the Cummins bill. The most drastic anti-strike law ever written in the history of the world, and written by a couple of men—no, a couple of senators, who were elected by the railroad vote.

Anti-strike laws have been tried in all the countries in the world and they have never prevented strikes. There are some things worse than strikes. Some of the worst strikes the world has ever known were not by organized labor at all. It is the last resort of the workman, after everything else fails. And when we undertake to rule a country either by bayonets—and one of the senators frankly says that "the American people demand the anti-strike law; and the bayonets are just a little ways beyond that." And they don't hesitate to say that. When we try to run a country by either injunctions or bayonets, we haven't much of a country left. (Applause.) And the history of the world has been the same the world over. You can call out your troops and you shoot down the workers for about so long, and then they commence to shoot indiscriminately, then they shoot everybody, and they don't make any distinction between the rich and the poor.

These are some of the questions that confront us and we, as American citizens and as a part of the American people, owe it to ourselves and owe it to those we leave at home to try to solve these problems. They are not going to be solved in a day. I realize that this is a sorrowful old world that we live in and it will take a long time to work out these questions, but we can do something. railroad system, we should have these thousands of trucks that are rotting and laying around rusting, that our Government owns. I know where 47,000 of them are. There is no reason in the world why they couldn't come in as part of our transportation system; coming in over our public highways, just as we have the rural free delivery. The farmer or the producer would know that a truck would come by his door that will bring that product right in to the city dweller. There is no reason in the world why we couldn't have it. And when we get Government ownership of railroads, we will have that as a part of the system. (Applause.)

It will be operated in the interest of all the people, and for efficient service, instead of being exploited in the interests of a little group of capitalists. In one of the blocks in Wall street, 13 groups of bankers—really controlled by three interests, because they interlock, they control every foot of railroad in the United States, and dictate the policy. We have 267,000 miles of railroad in the United States, controlled by those little groups of capital, really but three, because the three interests dominate the 13 groups.

Public ownership of railroads is nothing new. Fifty-eight per cent of the mileage in the world is government controlled, outside of the United States. So it is nothing new. And it is coming. We are going to have a system of direct buying and selling, and I hope this conference, before it leaves, will work that out. We are going to have a system of co-operation and people's banks. There is no reason why your people's banks should not be run in conjunction with your co-operative stores. There is no reason why we cannot take the product of the farm and handle it through the store.

Mr. Hillman, of the Clothing Workers, will tell you what the garment workers are up against. Mr. Fuller, of one of the societies, will tell you what they are doing in a small way with the wool grown by the farmer and how it is handled. There is nothing about it that is not easily understood. It is the simplest thing in the world to work out. We have all been exploited by the same crowd and we have all been kept at each others' throats for years. My people have been farmers for 200 years in America. My brothers are farmers today. And I know many of the things that the farmers are up against. Take for example the cattle country. I know when a farmer brings in his cow hides and can't get a dollar and a half apiece for them and some of them have to bury them or burn them, while at the same time he pays $100 dollars for a set of harness for his team, he knows there is something wrong and he knows he is being exploited. When he pays 150 per cent more for his farming implements today than he did years ago, he knows he is being exploited. And you know they have been led to believe that the laboring men and the labor unions were un-American and trying to tear down and destroy. When you cut out a lot of the frills and fancies, we are just simple folks and we are trying to make a living for ourselves and our families and are trying to solve these problems in our own humble way.

Accompanied by the Advisory Board I met with President Wilson last August, and I was the first one, if you will pardon the ego, to talk about the reduction of the high cost of living. And he promised us that he would take it up and give it his attention and in the meantime he would put the machinery of the Government to work in an effort to solve the high cost of living. You know what a blooming failure and what a mess the Government has made of reducing the high cost of living. (Applause.) I will give you an illustration. They came out in Cleveland to a little widow in the foreign district. I don't suppose she sold 50 pounds of sugar a day. And they arrested her for selling sugar at 23 cents per pound; she had paid the wholesaler 21 cents. Downtown the big department stores were selling sugar by the thousands of pounds for 23 cents a pound, but the little woman had to be fined. That is the way they go about it.

And that is a sample of the way the Government is handling the whole question. They haven't solved it and they are not going to solve it. And if we, the so-called common people—the people that Abraham Lincoln said God must have loved because he made so many of them—if we cannot solve the question then it is useless, and hopeless. But we are going to solve the question before we adjourn. (Applause.)

I have already talked enough. We are going to work out some basic fundamental principles, and we are starting a movement here that will go down in history as one of the greatest movements the world has ever known.

I thank you. (Much applause.)

URGES PEOPLE TO FIGHT CATARRH WITH SIMPLE HOME MADE REMEDY

Can Make Pint at Home and Costs Little, Says Leading Druggist of Covington, Ky., Who Has Made Special Study of Catarrh.

Says: Inflamed Nostrils Invite Influenza

People who say that catarrh is a disease not to be taken seriously are harshly rebuked by a Kentucky druggist who has for years been much interested in the growth of this loathsome, yet altogether too common disease.

He claims that the sore, tender, inflamed membrane of the nostrils and throat is a prolific breeding ground for germs—not only the germs of influenza, but many other kinds as well.

If people would only stop experimenting for two weeks and try a simple remedy made of Mentholized Arcine mixed with enough boiled water to make a full pint, half of the catarrh in this country would be abolished.

It's really no joke for people who don't know about this simple recipe to be constantly sniffing and snuffling, blowing and hawking, when all these obnoxious symptoms as well as the foul discharge can be made to disappear in a few days.

Ask for three-quarters of an ounce of Mentholized Arcine—that's all you need and after you have mixed it with enough boiled water to make a pint, gargle the throat twice daily and snuff or spray some up the nostrils, as directed.

The tender nostrils will soon lose their soreness, heal up, and be clean and healthy.

Important Reminder: Just as soon as anyone in the family gets a cold in the head, check it at once with this same medicine.

CHAPTER V.

Along the well-remembered streets of Sequoia Bryce Cardigan and his father walked arm in arm, their progress continuously interrupted by well-meaning but impulsive Sequoians who insisted upon halting the pair to shake hands with Bryce and bid him welcome home. In the presence of those third parties the old man quickly conquered the agitation he had felt at this long-deferred meeting with his son, and when presently they left the business section of the town and turned into a less-frequented street, his emotion assumed the character of a quiet joy, evidenced in a more erect bearing and a firmer tread, as if he strove, despite his seventy-six years, not to appear incongruous as he walked beside his splendid son.

I wish I could see you more clearly," he said presently. His voice as well as his words expressed profound regret, but there was no hint of despair or heart-break now.

Bryce, who up to this moment had refrained from discussing his father's misfortunes, drew the old man a little closer to his side.

"What's wrong with your eyes, pal?" he queried. He did not often address his parent, after the fashion of most sons, as "Father," "Dad," or "Pop." They were closer to each other than that, and a rare sense of perfect comradeship found expression, on Bryce's part, in such salutations as "pal," "partner" and, infrequently, "old sport."

"Cataracts, son," his father answered. "Merely the penalty of old age." "But can't something be done about it?" demanded Bryce. "Can't they be cured somehow or other?"

"Certainly they can, but I shall have to wait until they are completely matured and I have become completely blind; then a specialist will perform an operation on my eyes, and in all probability my sight will be restored for a few years. However, I haven't given the matter a great deal of consideration. And I am about ready to quit now. I'd like to, in fact; I'm tired."

"Oh, but you can't quit until you've seen your redwoods again," Bryce reminded him. "I suppose it's been a long time since you've visited the Valley of the Giants; your long exile from the wood-godlands has made you a trifle gloomy, I'm afraid."

John Cardigan nodded. "I haven't seen them in a year and a half, Bryce. Last time I was up, I slipped between the logs on that old skid-road and like to broke my old fool neck."

"Pal, it wasn't fair of you to make me stay away so long. If I had only known—if I had remotely suspected—"

"You'd have spoiled everything—of course. Don't scold me, son. You're all I have now, and I couldn't bear to send for you until you'd had your fling." His trembling old hand crept over and closed upon his boy's hand, so firm but free from signs of toll. "It was my pleasure, Bryce," he continued, "and you wouldn't deny me my choice of sport, would you? Remember, lad, I never had a boyhood; I never had a college education, and the only real travel I have ever had was when I worked my way around Cape Horn as a foremast hand, and all I saw then was water and hardships; all I've seen since is my little world here in Sequoia and in San Francisco."

"You've sacrificed enough—too much—for me, Dad."

"It pleased me to give you all the advantages I wanted and couldn't afford until I was too old and too busy to consider them. Besides, it was your mother's wish. And you have enjoyed your little run, haven't you?" he concluded wistfully.

THE HOME IS THE WOMAN

A Happy Home Usually Means a Happy Housewife

Nothing affects the heart of the home as much as a tired, overworked woman. Nowadays, there is scarcely any need for a woman to make her housework so unpleasant and tiring.

A number of useful inventions have lessened and lightened her work until it can be made far more pleasant and more quickly done.

House cleaning and dish washing, once the most miserable of duties, have lost most of their "miserableness" since Joy Soap was introduced. Some of its enthusiastic admirers say that it has made cleaning as much easier as the sewing machine did sewing.

Joy is a firm, white soap. It lasts long, because it does not get soft and dissolve easily. It is pleasant to use because it isn't "soapy" and "sticky."

And for cleaning windows, bathrooms, floors, dishes, washing clothes, etc., it simply is in a class all by itself! You don't have to scrub them clean—Joy cuts the dirt and grease itself, relieving you of most of the hard work.

Joy truly brings joy to the women who use it. It absolutely takes away most of the distasteful house cleaning work. Ask your grocer for a bar today and try it.

"I have, Dad." Bryce's great hand closed over the back of his father's neck; he shook the old man with mock ferocity. "Stubborn old lumber-jack!" he chided.

John Cardigan shook with an inward chuckle, for the loving abuse his boy had formed a habit of heaping on him never failed to thrill him. Instinctively Bryce had realized that tonight obvious sympathy copiously expressed was not the medicine for his father's bruised spirit; hence he elected to regard the latter's blindness as a mere temporary annoyance, something to be considered lightly, if at all; and it was typical of him now that the subject had been discussed briefly, to resolve never to refer to it again.

"Tomorrow morning I'm going to put a pair of overalls on you—arm you with a tin can and a swab, and set you to greasing the skidways. Partner, you've deceived me."

"Oh, nonsense. If I had whimpered that would only have spoiled every thing."

"Nevertheless, you were forced to cable me to hurry home."

"I summoned you the instant I realized I was going to need you."

"No, yet didn't, John Cardigan. You summoned me because, for the first time in your life, you were panicky and let yourself get out of hand."

His father nodded slowly. "And you aren't over it yet," Bryce continued, his voice no longer bantering but lowered affectionately. "What's the trouble, Dad? Trot out your old panic and let me inspect it. Trouble must be very real when it gets my father on the run."

"It is, Bryce, very real indeed. As I remarked before, I've lost your heritage for you." He sighed. "I waited till you would be able to come home and settle down to business; now you're home; and there isn't any business to settle down to."

BAD BREATH

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Get at the Cause and Remove It

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, act gently on the bowels and positively do the work.

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

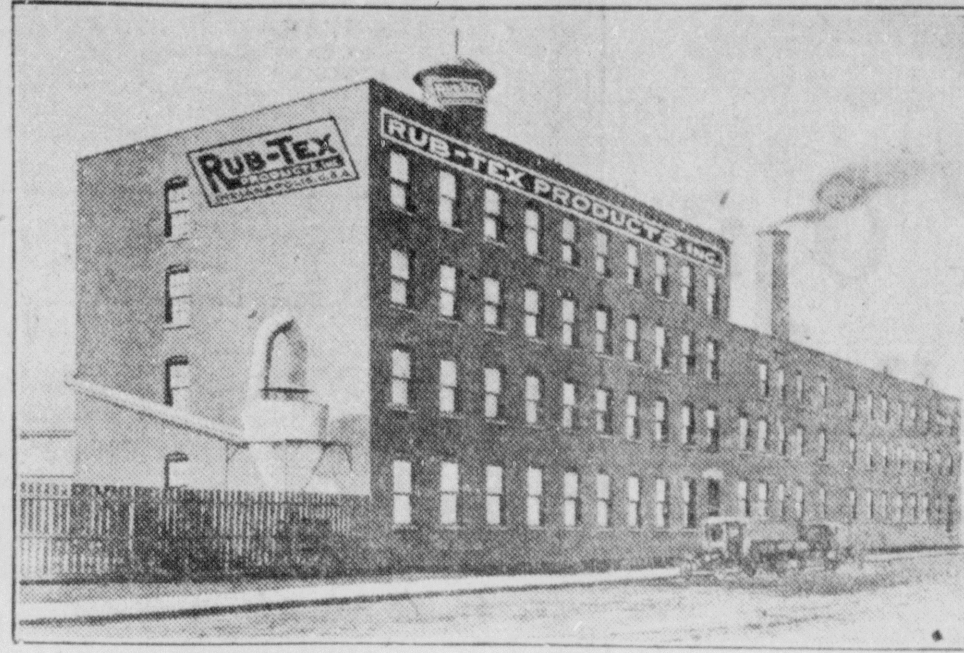

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

All the benefits of nasty, sickening, griping cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without griping, pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Take one or two every night for a week and note the effect. 10c and 25c.

SOCIAL EVENTS

TOMS—GRAESSLE.

Miss Luella Toms, daughter of Mrs. Alexander Toms, 502 West Second street, became the bride of Dr. Harold P. Graessle today. The ceremony was said at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon at the bride's home, by the Rev. James Harold More, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. The Van Dyke Presbyterian ring ceremony was used. Only the immediate relatives of the bride and groom were in attendance.

The bride wore a dark blue tricot suit with an embroidered tricot-lette blouse to match. She wore a large picture hat and a corsage of Ophelia roses and forget-me-nots. The rooms of the Toms' home were tastefully decorated with vases and baskets of Mock roses and the dining room was especially beautiful. The centerpiece for the table was a large basket of Ophelia roses with a large bow of white tulle. The basket was surrounded with ropes of smylax. The place cards were miniature hand painted white slippers and dainty baskets filled with nuts, marked each cover. The room was lighted with yellow candles arranged on the table.

Covers were laid for the members of the immediate families, Dr. and Mrs. G. G. Graessle, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Petterman, Mrs. Alexander Toms, Rev. J. H. More, Dr. and Mrs. H. P. Graessle, and Mr. and Mrs. Theo. Toms, of Atlanta, Ga.

Later in the afternoon an informal reception was held, the guests including a large number of the most intimate friends of the bride and groom.

Dr. and Mrs. Graessle left this afternoon at 5 o'clock for a ten days' visit in Washington, D. C., New York and other eastern cities, after which they will make their home with the bride's mother.

The bride was graduated from the local high school with the class of 1912, and afterwards studied at the Metropolitan School of Music, Indianapolis. Since that time she has taught music in this city. She is popular in Seymour society circles and has been honored with a large number of pre-nuptial parties.

The groom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. G. G. Graessle, 221 West Tipton street. He was graduated from the local high school in 1911, and from the Indiana Medical School in 1918. He also served as an intern at Saint Vincent's Hospital, Indianapolis, for one year, and since that time has been associated with his father.

Both Dr. and Mrs. Graessle have the best wishes of their many friends.

She received many beautiful gifts, among them a Bible, presented by her husband, and a large birthday cake, made by Mrs. Charles Hazard. The cake was iced in white, trimmed with red candies. In the center were the figures in red representing her age.

After a very enjoyable evening, the guests departed wishing Mrs. Tiemeyer many more happy birthdays.

TORPEDOED!

Don't blast your Liver and Bowels, but take "Cascarets."

You men and women who can't get feeling right—who have headache, coated tongue, bad taste and foul breath, dizziness, can't sleep, are bilious, nervous and upset, bothered with colds, disordered stomach and bowels—Are you keeping your liver and bowels clean with Cascarets, or shocking your insides every few days with Calomel, Salts, Oil and violent pills?

Cascarets work while you sleep; they cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested, fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the constipated waste matter and poison in the bowels. Cascarets never gripe, sicken or cause inconvenience and Cascarets cost an little too.

Rapp, Mrs. S. E. Enos, Mr. and Mrs. Loebline and the bride and groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Enos left this afternoon at 1 o'clock for Indianapolis, and tomorrow will leave for an indefinite visit in New York and other eastern points. After their return they will make their home on Mr. Enos' farm, two miles southeast of the city.
